1. I submit herewith a formal report on the [REDACTED]

2. Enclosures No. 1 represents the actual lectures delivered at the School and is a verbatim transcript of my notes taken during the lectures themselves. These notes had to clear through [REDACTED] security before finally reaching me on 17 January. It should perhaps be observed that nothing was deleted. The material of the lectures will be familiar to you for the most part, but it will nevertheless show the scope and content of a curriculum designed by the [REDACTED] to acquaint a small group of intelligence officers with the principles of Special Operations. I also submit the lectures in the form and language of the individual lecturer, rather than edit the text to make it conform to our own method of presenting such information. The only arrangement I have made is to place related lectures together for continuity's sake. Thus, propaganda, industrial sabotage, guerrilla and other SO operations -- the three predominant themes of the course -- are grouped together.
